

Dear Student,

Welcome back to Bristol.

This will be your home until next summer and we hope you will have a successful year and take advantage of all the fantastic opportunities that your University and this wonderful city have to offer.

The Mayor of Bristol Marvin Rees also welcomes you and the positive contribution and energy you bring to the city.

Both Universities take pride in the value that our students bring to Bristol, in terms of your voluntary activity, collaboration with the local community and enrichment of the diversity and culture that makes Bristol special and encourages talented individuals to thrive.

Bristol is a great city to live in and with this privilege comes responsibility.

We would like to remind you that as representatives of your University and members of the community, we expect you to uphold and maintain high standards of behaviour. Please be respectful of your neighbours and understanding of their right to a peaceful and tidy home environment. In particular:

- Do not disturb your neighbours with noise at any time but especially at night, whether inside your accommodation or walking home late through residential areas;
- Follow the city guidelines for managing waste. Lead by example and do not drop litter, recycle as much as you can and leave the city tidy at the end of term.

Do take advantage of all the useful tips and guidance on your Love Where You Live leaflet and website lovewhereyoulivebristol.co.uk. These will help you be a good neighbour. It's a good idea to get to know your neighbours so make sure you introduce yourselves as soon as you can.

Ultimately, the conduct of our students in the community is a matter governed within the University with rules, regulations and consequences as we do view this as a highly important matter.

So please enjoy everything that Bristol and its community have to offer and please make sure that your impact on the city is a positive one. Please remember that your University has services in place to support you with any difficulties you may face and to help enrich your time here both academically and personally.

We wish you every success for the coming year,
