1. eRecruit navigation

1.1 Logging in to eRecruit

Although the eRecruit system is compatible with current versions of all major web browsers it is advised to use Google Chrome for optimum performance and functionality.
To log-in to eRecruit, click on the eRecruit login link from the left-hand side navigation bar on the UoB jobs homepage.

You will then be prompted to enter your standard UoB username and password through the University Single Sign-On (SSO) system (unless you are already logged in through SSO in the same browser).

Note - If you are then prompted to change your password this is an automated message from our system supplier. Please be assured that at this stage you have already securely logged in using UoB Single Sign-On. If prompted please therefore do not enter your UoB password but enter any combination of 8 characters and you will be able to proceed to eRecruit and will not then have to use this 'password' again. If you have any queries on this please email hr-systems@bristol.ac.uk.

Enter your username and password and you will be taken to a default workspace page in the eRecruit system for your user type – this is your eRecruit homepage.

The workspace you have now entered is securely maintained outside of the University server by the external supplier of the system, Lumesse. From time to time you may see on-screen references to Lumesse Talentlink; this is the name of the Lumesse ‘product’ the University is using, which we have branded eRecruit.

If you have eRecruit open but do not use it for 30 minutes you will be timed-out. If this happens, simply return to the eRecruit login link as above.

1.2 How the workflow process works in eRecruit

Your Faculty/ Divisional HR Team will co-ordinate the whole recruitment and selection process using the eRecruit system and, if you have been allocated as an operational contact, you (along with other contacts for the job) will receive e-mail prompts at each stage where action is required from you.

HR will automatically populate the basic vacancy details. So they can initiate the process, you will need to supply them with the job description/person specification, advert and details of contacts who need to be allocated to the vacancy.

All UoB staff have been set up as basic level users of eRecruit. When your Faculty/ Divisional HR Team initiate a vacancy in the system they will allocate users as ‘operational’ contacts for that specific vacancy as requested. The allocated contacts could be the line manager/ lead recruiter, administrative staff supporting the manager in the process or other panel members.

If you have been allocated to the vacancy you will be able to log into the system and have a full view of all the information for your vacancy, and the candidates that have applied, at all stages of the process from initiation to offer.

All Heads of School/ Division, School and Faculty Managers and administrators from the previous system have been set up as advanced users in eRecruit. This means that, whether or not they have been allocated as a contact for a specific vacancy, they will be able to view and, if required, enter outcomes for all vacancies and candidates in their organisational unit (and units below in the organisational hierarchy).

Additional advanced users can easily be set up by your Faculty/ Divisional HR Team as and when required.

If you have been allocated to the vacancy or have been set up as an advanced user, you will also be able to review applications and record the short-list and final outcome of the interview/ selection process on-line.

All vacancies will be subject to an on-line check by HR against a University-wide redeployment pool, and there may be the option of selecting from matching candidates from the pool rather than advertising where appropriate.

All communications with candidates and forms associated with the process are also completed and recorded in the system (except where specified in this guide).
eRecruit is an on-line system and, as such, holds all job and candidate information electronically. You will not therefore be routinely sent communications or applications by hard copy.

1.3 Your Dashboard
When you log-in into eRecruit you will normally be taken straight to your Dashboard:

You can also always access your dashboard by clicking here:

From your dashboard you can access your current live roles (1), your jobs that are currently advertised (2), your Recruiting Central (3), assigned tasks list (4) and messages:
1.3.1 My jobs
Here, you will see an overview of all your current jobs, the numbers of candidates and their status:

1.3.2 Live posting
Here, you can see your roles that are currently being advertised, where they are being advertised and the posting end dates:

2.CV review - shortlisting candidates for Panel members
You will be invited to log-in your eRecruit account to review the candidates’ applications.
