New Teachers' Workshop Tuesday 19th April 1.30-5pm at Canyng Hall (address above), Bristol

This workshop will give you an overview of current GP student teaching in Years 1-5 and changes for the future. You will learn how to plan your teaching and how to give feedback to students. This workshop is suitable for qualified GPs who are new to teaching or have done very little student teaching in the past. To book please email phc-teaching@bristol.ac.uk

Teaching workshop for GPs in training

This workshop is intended for GPs in training who want to teach 3rd year medical students in their practice in the academic year 2016-17. This year we are offering the same workshop in 3 different locations. All GPs in training have already been emailed with relevant information.

Congratulations to 4th Year medical student Anna Taylor

Anna led a teaching session at our last Year 5 GP Teacher workshop and has won the Royal College of Psychiatrists Medical Student of the Year Award 2015

A chance to take part in research

Exploring the barriers and facilitators to help-seeking by GPs: improving access to support

This is a qualitative research study aiming to explore what helps and hinders General Practitioners (GPs) when they seek help and support for mental health problems and/or stress and burnout. With the continually increasing pressure on General Practice and many of our colleagues retiring early this is a very timely study. This study has been organised by the Centre for Academic Primary Care. To find out more or take part in the study, please visit
