Langford House was once part of a Victorian gentleman’s country estate and today there are 255-hectares to explore.

Did you know?
Langford House has a ‘ha-ha!’ This is a sunken barrier that kept livestock grazing in the parkland out of the gardens, while giving the illusion of a continuous rolling lawn.

The Mendips have been designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) and are home to species such as the peregrine falcon, greater horseshoe bat and the great crested newt.

Welcome to Langford Campus

Sometimes the demands of studying and life in general can seem a challenge so it’s important to look after your wellbeing.

Taking care of your physical, emotional and mental health can help you manage the ups and downs of University life.

This map has been created to help you make time for the activities you love and keep a good balance between studies and leisure.

Residential Life

If you’re a student living in University accommodation, you can contact your Residential Life team at anytime.

Your Residential Life team can help with anything from homesickness to problems with flatmates; they also organise events and activities in residences.

You can contact Residential Life by telephone or email 24 hours a day, or by visiting your Student Support Centre in person.
