

Rabbit – lyrics

I was locked in a small rabbit hole

It was dark and dull, I was feeling cold

I was trying to dig my way out, but I couldn't even shout

Someone was trying to help but this fox was pushing me back into the hole

Thumping my feet on repeat and noone's listening to the beat

There's a carrot in front of me, but this rabbit just can't grab it

So I'll just have to manage on my own and it's tragic

The fox was too big for them to face

So they just stayed in their place

I kept digging I got lost, trust me you don't want to deal with the cost

My foot is meant to mean good luck

But I wasn't feeling that, I was feeling stuck

One rabbit is finally trying to help me out

One foot in, one foot out, I can finally shout
